Report of the One day Workshop

Navajyothi College, with its students from the PG Department of English, has been visiting the Jyothi Balika Bhavan, Pulingome, for some days, training the students in their academics and other soft skill development. This programme was titled SISA, which meant to train and equip students in social animation. As per the guidelines of the SISA, the adopted institute has to be visited for five days comprising of two hours per visit, and after that, to conduct a one day workshop on various themes. After completing the five-day visits, a one-day seminar was born on 13th October 2021.

The day started with an official inauguration ceremony at 11 am. Mr Ashish Joseph, the representative of II M A, welcomed each dignitary and other participants to the programme. The meeting was presided over by Prof. A J Hareendran, head of the Department, and Rev. Fr. John Kochupurackal, the college manager, inaugurated the conference. The auspicious meeting was blessed by the congratulations of Sr. Rani Tom, the director of Jyothi Balika Bhavan, Fr. Sijoy Paul, Director and assistant professor at Department of English, and Ms Athira, class mentor of PG Students. Ms Aleena Sabu thanked everyone who attended the meeting.

After the inauguration ceremony, we started the workshop titled WINGS. The workshop is christened as WINGS to indicate the children's ardent desire to fly high and then train them to develop their soft skills and survival skills with humane values. The workshop's objective was to create life skills and values. The day was divided into four sessions; each was guided by three students, namely Mr Ashish Joseph, Dona, and Josmi A.J.

One Day Camp

We had conducted the last section of SISA on 13/10/2021 Wednesday. The day started with a formal meeting. Ms Sruthi Suresh welcomed all the dignitaries in the meeting. It was presided over by Prf. AJ. Hareendran, the head of the Department of English. Rev Fr. John Kochupurckal, the college manager, inaugurated the meeting. His inspiring and enlightening words doubled the spirit of the day. Fr. Sijoy Paul, director of the college, Rev. Sr. Rani Tom, director of the Jyothi Balika Bhavan, and Ms Athira, asst. professor at the Department of English, felicitated the gathering. Ms Aleena Sabu extended a note of gratitude at the end of the meeting.

Followed by the meeting, the session of WINGS began with a song by the student at Balika Bhavan. The workshop was divided into four sessions. The first session was led by Mr Ashish Joseph that included games such as sentence forming, colour finding, musical chair and blind test. All the games imparted values of trust and optimism to the students. At the end of the first session, lunch was served to the participants.

Ms Dona led the second session of the workshop. The session included enthusiastic games such as Balloon play, the Bomb in the city, glass pyramid and Bomb charades. This session concentrated on the values of group work, mutual trust and creativity among the students.

Ms Josmi A J handled the third session. Her session included spoon Race, Balloon Passing, chess and Alphabet glass. This also extended the values of group work and planning.

Ms Dona guided the last session. It included the competition beauty spot. Cultural programmes followed this session. The girl children of the institution staged dance and songs of their own.

The concluding meeting was presided over by Fr. Jose Thamarakattu, asst, professor of Malayalam. Mr Priyesh Kumar P.V. Mrs Sophi Domanic, Rev.Sr. Rani Tom felicitated the gathering. Prizes for the various competitions were given to the winners. The day ended with a high note of joy and fulfilment. It was opined that the days were fruitful and enjoyable. The visit of the PG students kindled values and confidence among the inmates of the Balika Bhavan. The director of the Balika Bhavan appreciated the efforts.
